Rosemarie Martha Spitaleri, which is an award given to the top female graduate at the university. I loved UW so much I decided to stay, and am about to begin my final semester of graduate school where I will be obtaining my Master's of Public Administration with a Minor in Gender and Women's Studies. I'm currently a Graduate Assistant in the Service, Leadership and Community Engagement Office on campus where I teach a first year seminar course as well as Intro to LGBTQ Studies. On occasion I also teach Intro to Women's Studies. I am incredibly passionate about teaching and I love to provide students with opportunities to achieve and engage with their campus and Laramie communities.

I recently finished working under a grant-funded position for the American Civil Liberties Union of Wyoming, where I worked alongside our rockstar Public Education Coordinator Sara Burlingame! I worked to Thank you for your support of Wyoming Equality, and I can't wait to get to work in the new year!

Social coordinators needed!

Are you interested in having social events in your area, but don't know how to start? Although we have plenty of events in the Southeastern part of the state, WE would love to help you get your activities planned and advertised for YOUR areas. Contact us at Wyoming Equality, and we'll connect you with resources and advertising to get your event off, perfectly.
